The Great Lake Disaster Did Not Occur.

EXCURSION BOAT LANDED.

The Graduating Class of the Northwestern University Once More on Terra Firma After a Terrible Night's Experience—Extent of the Storm's Disasters.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The steamer Juliet, with the graduating class of the Northwestern university, arrived at the dock of the Northwestern depot yesterday. All on board were safe, despite the experiences of the evening and unaware of the anxiety which their failure to return had caused, or of the reports of disaster to the craft. The trip was an eventful one, and never to be forgotten.

The excursion was that arranged for the celebration of the class day. The steamer with its merry load went up the lake to Waukegan, leaving Evanston after the first storm was over and when the lake had become comparatively calm. The run up was uneventful and the party had become thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the day.

The return trip was taken at 8:15 o'clock, and the little vessel stood out two miles in the lake and had reached a point off Fort Sheridan when a second storm was felt. It had been raining for some time, but the sea was so slight that it was not felt. Both cabins were filled with members of the class and the program was being carried out without any interruption.

It was not until the waves began to sweep over the deck that there was any indication of any danger. Suddenly, while a speech was being made by one of the male members of the class, the greatest wave encountered swept over the bow, bro' and sent its spray into the cabin through the open hatch. The little vessel shivered, stopped and careened under its force.

The speaker was staggered. His auditors were forcibly thrown about. In fact, in a moment the living cargo was deposited on the lower side. But the young folks righted themselves as rapidly as the steamer came to an even keel, and began to put themselves in positions to withstand the rolling of the vessel.

There was much excitement, especially among the young women. The young men tried to reassure them. The sea steadily got heavier, and soon many of the young women were suffering the agonies of sea-sickness. It was then about 10 o'clock. The captain decided to put for Chicago. From that time on it was a tough experience. Out of forty young women on board only one escaped being sick.

Said a gentleman who was on the boat: "The cabin had been newly painted, and we could not open the windows to get any air. There were more than eighty of us jammed in two little cabins. The result may be imagined. Some of the women fainted. Many climbed to the rail on the upper deck in the driving rain rather than endure the horrors of the cabin. Few of us, especially the women, had wraps of any kind, and in our light clothing we were drenched to the skin in a twinkling and chilled to the bone."

"About the time we were abreast of Evanston and could distinguish its lights," continued the gentleman, "things were going hard with us. The steamer was heading directly into the wind and sea. The sea was running high, and the wind blowing a gale. The Juliet did not seem to be making any progress whatever. Every now and then she would get into the trough of the sea, and we would be thrown about like peas in a basket. One of the girls went into such violent hysterics that she had to be held."

"From this point we fought our way, inch by inch, toward Chicago. Part of the time we could see the shore lights and then all would be as black as pitch. At one time both the engineer and fireman were laid out by sea-sickness. About this time we kind of gave up hope. But we crept nearer and nearer to the Chicago light, and finally made our way into the harbor as sorry a lot of excursionists as ever landed in Chicago."

The passengers went directly to the northwestern depot and took the 5:15 train for Evanston.

Destruction in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Monday night's storm was much more destructive than first reports indicated. At least seven lives were lost in Chicago and vicinity and seventeen persons were more or less injured, while it will probably take hundreds of thousands of dollars to repair the damage done by the tornado.

TIMES CAL ED.

The Printers Go to Work but Not at the Case.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—The members of the International Typographical Union began their second day's work at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in the Drexel Institute, all the delegates being in their seats almost as soon as the hour struck, and being called to order seized the business of the morning with a directness and intelligence that permitted none of the dilatory ambages which are the bane of annual meetings.

Recommendation No 18, by Mr. Kidd, of Chicago, unfavorably mentioned in the report of committee on laws—a very important measure—was taken up immediately. The recommendation urges the amending of Section 7, Article 14 of the constitution, by inserting after the word "shall" in the tenth line the following passage: "Immediately call upon the organizer of the district, who shall repair to the city involved, and failing to effect a settlement of the question at issue, he shall call meetings of all the unions represented in the allied printing trades council in said city, and should a majority of said allied trades decide by a three-fourths vote to strike, such action shall be deemed binding upon them all, and a strike may be authorized without appealing to the executive council of International Typographical Union, provided that this shall only apply to cities where allied printing trades councils exist."

The argument over the recommendation appeared to set the interests of the small unions against those of the larger ones, and nearly every delegate in the meeting hall spoke upon it. It soon became evident that the committee's opinion was not concurred in by many of the members, and that the majority wanted to have Mr. Kidd's recommendation before them in order to alter it and suit their own views. After an hour's discussion the committee's negative report was rejected and the convention took up the recommendation for amendment.

Mr. Joseph Gates, of Indianapolis, moved to strike out the proviso which permits the measure to apply to no cities other than to those where allied printing trades councils exist. In the midst of the debate, the committee on credentials asked permission to present a report of its work. The most important case was the contested election of John McMillan, a delegate from Pressmen's Union No. 3, of Chicago, who was opposed by Bernard Nolan.

The committee favored the seating of Mr. McMillan. Both contestants were accorded the privilege of the floor for five minutes, and the scale turned finally in favor of McMillan, but the effect of the recriminations was so unpleasant that the convention quickly resolved to never again extend the privilege of the floor to rival candidates for admission.

It was found that further consideration of the report on the committee on credentials would consume too much time, then the other cases were postponed until later in the day.

A resolution submitted by the special committee on the Childs-Drexel home for union printers, at Colorado Springs, was taken up. Mr. Snyder, the chairman, said he had asked nearly every member of the board of directors for the bids for the erection of the home, and for all the correspondence relative to them. All whom he saw denied having the papers. He said that they were appointed to look into the case, but could not do so unless they had the documents bearing upon it. "The resolution instructs the board to furnish us with these documents, and I hope it will pass."

Mr. Snyder's hope was fulfilled, and when the convention determined that when the special committee report was submitted it should be considered in executive session.

The debate over Mr. Gates' amendment striking out the proviso in recommendation No. 18, was resumed. As the law stands now, if the compositors in an office strike, it is optional with the pressmen and stereotypers to support them or not. The recommendation makes it incumbent upon all employees to go out with their striking brothers.

Mr. W. J. Miller, of the Boston Herald, started in to make some remarks, but had scarcely begun to speak when his words were cut short by a resolution to dispose of the business on the president's desk, and adjournment came before the debate over the recommendation was renewed.

Other things attended to was an invitation to the convention from Colonel Elliott F. Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, to attend the opening of his new publication building. Instead of accepting, the delegates decided that a committee of five should wait on him and ask him to employ only union pressmen and stereotypers. If he acceded to the demand they would attend the opening.

REPRESENTATIVE STACKHOUSE DEAD

The South Carolina Congressman Dies Suddenly in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Representative Eli T. Stackhouse, of the Sixth district of South Carolina, died suddenly at his residence in this city shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday morning of heart disease. Mr. Stackhouse was in his seat in the house Monday and answered to the roll call, but complaining of the intense heat left the house and returned to his residence. Later in the afternoon he was much better and his son read his papers to him. When about to retire the son offered to sit up with him, but Mr. Stackhouse deemed it unnecessary.

About 1:20 a.m., young Stackhouse heard his father breathing laboriously and called him, but he did not respond. He never died and died shortly afterward. The immediate cause of his death is thought to have been heart disease.

Biographical.

Mr. Stackhouse was born in Marion county, S. C., in 1824. He served in the Confederate army and became a colonel. He afterward became prominent in agricultural pursuits, was president of the state Farmers' Alliance, was a member of the legislature and was elected to the Fifty-first Congress as a Democrat.

ARKANSAS DEMOCRATS.

LITTLE ROCK, June 15.—The Democratic state convention met here yesterday and nominated a full slate ticket, headed by William M. Fishback for governor. The delegates to the national convention are uninstructed, but favor Cleveland's nomination.

Strike in a Planing Mill.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 15.—Yesterday a strike occurred at the Castator & Nelson planing mill. All hands quit work. The employees are members of the carpenters' and joiners' union, and objected to working with a non-unionist.

MORE WIND WORK.

An Illinois Town Destroyed By a Cyclone.

BUT ONE PERSON WAS KILLED.

A Number of People Were Seriously Injured, Some of Whom May Die—The Property Loss Will Reach an Enormous Amount as the Storm is Believed to Be Widespread.

PEORIA, Ills., June 15.—A cyclone visited Galva, a small village forty-five miles north of this city on the Rock Island and Peoria, Monday night, the details of which has been hard to obtain on account of all wire communication having been destroyed. From what can be learned almost the entire village, which contained 2,000 people, has been swept away and at least one life lost and quite a number of people injured.

The storm was preceded by terrible lightning, which did great damage. The temperature fell rapidly and the cyclone which followed the electrical storm swept the town away. Many fled to cellars and scores of people were found after the storm in cisterns and wells, where they had taken refuge.

The Free Methodist church was entirely demolished and the congregation imprisoned in its ruins, several being seriously injured. It is miraculous that any of the occupants escaped with their lives.

Many persons were hurt at their homes or upon the streets by flying debris.

Hough's and Barnett's elevators are destroyed. At least half of the business houses are unroofed and from eighty to one hundred homes wrecked or destroyed. The Hays planter factory was badly damaged and the Mulford heater factory partly demolished. The Union rink is a complete wreck.

There is not a building in the entire place that does not show some evidence of the fearful storm. Only one life has been lost as the result of the storm so far, but nearly a score of persons received injuries, from which some of them may not recover. August Olsen was killed at his home by falling walls. Among the injured are August, Charles and Hulda Carlson, Ernest Dickinson, Mrs. John Ericsson, Albert Ericsson and wife, Oscar, Georgie and Julia Ericsson, Mrs. Safstrum, A. Wahlstrum Jager, Mrs. Melline, Miss Melline and C. J. Johnson. Of these nearly all received their injuries by the collapse of the Methodist church, where they were attending a mission meeting.

The property loss is about $100,000. Much damage was done to property throughout Illinois by the storm.

The storm was so violent that it was felt in this city. The electrical storm here was the worst seen in many years, and the temperature fell many degrees in a few moments. The day was intensely hot and there was a premonition of impending trouble in the breathless atmosphere. Later in the evening there was a terrible rainstorm, which flooded everything.

This is supposed to be the outskirts of the cyclone which wiped Galva from the face of the earth.

There are eight telegraph lines between this city and Chicago belonging to the Western Union, and all but one of them are down. This leads to the belief that the storm was widespread.

MARE ISLAND DISASTER.

One More Name Added to the Death List—Funeral of the Victims.

MARE ISLAND, Cal., June 15.—Brislaw, one of the men injured by the explosion at Mare Island, died last night at 10:30. J. H. Hutton, another of the injured is still alive and slightly better. He is totally paralyzed, but it is said that he will be able to speak some time during the day, and that he may be able to give some cause for the explosion.

The funerals of the victims were held at 3:30 yesterday afternoon and were attended by all the bands, sailors and marines in the yard, and also all of the civilian employees.

A telegram has been received from secretary of the navy instructing that a commission be appointed to investigate the explosion, and it is rumored that a general court martial will be held in which some of the naval officers of the yard will be the principal actors.

An inquest was held at the Vallejo hospital upon the bodies of the fourteen men of the United States cruiser Boston, who were killed in the explosion. Just before their burial a verdict of accidental death was found. The catastrophe has caused great gloom here, and the flage were placed at half mast.

TEMENTEM HOUSE TRAGEDY.

Horrible Murder Committed by an Unknown Man.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 15.—The tenement house, 16 Rotterdam street, this city, was the scene of a horrible murder Tuesday afternoon. A twelve-year-old girl called at the house and found the door locked. A man's voice responded in broken English to her knock, saying: "Nobody ain't home."

A muffled sound as of pounding and moaning followed, and directly afterward a man rushed from the house and ran into the street. Lying in a pool of blood in a front room was found the body of Mrs. Aleck Demasek. Her skull had been crushed by three blows from a hammer and her throat had been cut from ear to ear. The police are searching for the murderer, who is unknown.

Mrs. Stowe an Octogenarian.

HARTFORD, June 15.—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe was eighty years old Tuesday. The event was commemorated by a birthday celebration by the pupils and graduates of the Hartford female seminary, which was founded in Hartford by Miss Beecher in 1827.

CONFLAGRATIONS.

Several Places Visited by De-structive Fires.

TOWN WIPE OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Chicora, a Small Village in Butler County, Pennsylvania, Suffers a Very Heavy Loss—Big Blaze in Baltimore. Other Losses Caused by Fire.

CHICORA, Pa., June 15.—About midnight fire broke out in McGinley's restaurant, this town, probably from natural gas. The water supply gave out almost immediately, and on account of the intense dry weather the buildings burned like tinder.

Citizens called on the United Pipe Line station for assistance and succeeded in getting water from their pumps an hour and a half later. Buildings were torn down by the hook and ladder company, and several blown up by dynamite. This, with the Standard supply of water, succeeded in stopping the fire on one side of the street, and gave the firemen more encouragement, and they fought manfully, several being badly burned.

The fire burned one hundred buildings situated between Slippery Rock and Main streets, including the following: McGinley's restaurant and confectionery, Boss' grocery and warehouse; H. C. Litzinger, grocery; S. Frank, dry goods; E. F. Hayes, hardware; the postoffice, the United Pipe Line office, the Butler County bank building and Forquer's hotel.

At 4 a.m. the fire was under control, having burned to the corner of Main street. Many families are homeless, but it is thought no lives were lost. It is not possible at this writing to make an accurate estimate of the loss.

Big Fire in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed the immense wooden freight sheds of the Baltimore Packet company, together with thousand of dollars' worth of baled cotton, tobacco, flour, whisky and rosin and miscellaneous freight. The brick freight house, general office, cotton storage shed and other buildings were consumed.

The flames also communicated with and destroyed the oil warehouse of James Corner & Son and the schooner Augustus Wells, loaded with ice. The furniture factory of Holland & Company, four blocks away, was also burned. The total loss is estimated at $400,000; insurance estimated at $150,000.

Postoffice Burned.

DANVILLE, Ky., June 15.—The postoffice at Atoka, Boyle county, was burned last night, and all mail matter destroyed. George W. Stephens ran a general store in connection. Loss, $1,500; insured for $2,600 in Aetna of Hartford, and Washington of Providence.

DESOLATION HOLDS SWAY.

Nearly One-Third of Louisiana Under Water.

NEW ORLEANS, June 15.—The situation of affairs in the alluvial districts of the state is truly deplorable. Devastation and desolation hold sway over nearly one-third of the parishes of Louisiana. Never in the history of highwaters in the state have so many crevasses occurred during one flood.

The Southern Pacific road is overflowed for over a distance of two miles. It is only a question of time when the tracks of both the Southern and Texas Pacific will be so overflowed as to suspend traffic. The break at Prospect plantation last night is 250 feet wide. The water from the Belmont crevasse will in a few days join that from the Prospect break and then the ruin of the crops in the parish St. James will be complete.

The loss will not be confined to the agricultural districts alone, but will fall heavily on the railroads. The Mississippi Valley road is completely cut off. The town of Kenner, ten miles above New Orleans, is threatened with inundation, and the crevasses have so raised the level of Lake Ponchartrain as to alarm the people of this city, who fear New Orleans will be overflowed by the rapidly rising lake.

SEVERAL BATTLES FOUGHT.

Latest Advices From the Revolution in Venezuela.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Advices to the Herald from Valencia, Venezuela, under date of June 12, state that General Guerra, with a force of revolutionists, is besieging Valencia, and has prospects of capturing it.

The government forces have compelled the rebels, who are short of ammunition, to evacuate Bolivar.

Several battles have taken place during the past week. Nearly all of the engagements resulted in a victory for the revolutionists.

The rebels are in possession of the coast from Puerto Cabello to Maracaibo.

Trinidad authorities are now assisting two vessels loaded with arms for the revolutionists from leaving Port of Spain. It is believed that this stand was taken on demand of the British government.

Ravauch to Hang June 20.

PARIS, June 15.—The court of appeal has denied the appeal of Ravauch against the indictment for the murder of a hermit and two women and he will be tried June 20. The jury will be selected by lot and their names kept secret to prevent anarchists from intimidating them.

SOME papers continue to class the New York Sun as a Democratic journal. The Sun has fought the party and its nominees for years.

THE Commercial Gazette seems to be haunted with some doubt as to whether Harrison and Reid will pull through. "If every Republican would do his duty," is the way the C. G. qualifies its statement on this point.

NEW YORK's midwinter delegates to the Democratic National Convention held a meeting last week at which they resolved to support David Bennett Hill "as long as he will permit his name to be used for the Presidency." The Brooklyn Eagle says the resolution as sent to the delegation by Hill himself went on to say that "under no circumstances" would the delegates vote for Grover Cleveland. A majority of the delegates made a big kick against the latter clause and struck it out. The Eagle regards "the enforced abandonment of the declaration against Cleveland as a square Hill defeat in the so-called Hill delegation." The action of the delegation is significant of the sentiment for Cleveland in New York as elsewhere.

ROASTING REID.

Union Printers Claim He Has Not Carried Out His Agreement With Them.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Advertiser prints the following: "Union printers of New York are greatly disturbed because Whitelaw Reid has not kept faith with the compositors. Mr. Reid notified Typographical Union No. 6, that he had decided to supplant non-union by union men, and that he was ready to receive from that body the names of men from whom he might select a foreman. The names were selected. There the matter rested, for neither Mr. Reid nor those whom he leaves in charge of his office during his absence made any reply to the letter containing the names of the three candidates, any one of whom would be acceptable to union printers."

"The printers appointed a committee to go to the Republican National convention in Minneapolis, and lay before the appropriate committee the facts, and at the same time they explained that the union printers would offer no objection to Mr. Reid at the polls. Beyond that the committee of printers had no instructions.

Mr. Reid is nominated, but the non-union typesetters continue to operate the machines in the Tribune office. And what is more, the report comes from Minneapolis that Typographical Union, No. 6, worked to help Mr. Reid secure the nomination.

An official of Typographical Union, No. 6, said: "I, for one, never thought Mr. Reid intended to keep his word. He has employed non-union printers for fifteen years. A man who has fought union printers fifteen years is not likely to change his mind in a day. Consequently, I doubt whether he will dispense with the services of the non-union men he has. If President Kenny took upon himself to electoneer for Mr. Reid he will regret it, for it is an unwritten law, nevertheless one firmly observed, that typographical unions shall not take any part in politics. Even should we be called upon, on account of his treachery, to fight Mr. Reid at the polls, we would do it as individuals, but we'll fight him just the same. A meeting of Big Six has been called to hear the report of this committee, whose members will be carefully questioned about their movements in Minneapolis."

The last will of Daniel Shafer was proved and admitted to record.

CONGRESSMAN PAYNTER.

The National Democrat Compliments Him Highly—Young, Attentive, Vigorous, Fearless.

The National Democrat complimented Congressman Paynter very highly in a recent issue. It said: "He is a typical Kentuckian, with all the elements needed in a successful legislator—young, attentive, vigorous; fearless, strong and convincing. He is ever at his post, and never wavering, works zealously for his constituents and pure democracy."

"Ignoring the clamor and despising the tricks of the demagogue, he has at every point in his service studied thoroughly, guarded well and tried to advance the interests of the agriculturist. No measure of merit for the toiling or the poor has failed of his support. No man in Congress has more friends. No man stands higher. No man can come nearer getting what he wants. This is a high compliment for one of short service."

"The difficulties confronting a new man in Congress are seldom appreciated. The beginner is unacquainted with the members; he is ignorant of the rules; ignorant of former legislation; of departments, department service and methods. This is a government of departments, and until the member understands these and their multiplied and complex workings he is well nigh helpless; hence the great advantage in retaining such a man after the details are mastered that they may be utilized."

"The useful men of the House, the men who shape legislation are not the brilliant or scholarly, but those of long Congressional service, those who are allowed to serve ten, fifteen or twenty years. The brilliant man who comes to Congress with large pretensions and splendid theories to be impressed upon the country, accomplishes but little except his own disappointment."

"Mr. Paynter has been content to work; he has worked patiently, tenaciously and successfully; he has been mastering the methods of departments and legislative details; he is now where he can attain results. While he has not worried the House with useless speechmaking, when impelled to speak he has done so in terms eloquent and persuasive. His tariff speech was simply unanswerable, and pronounced by many an excellent campaign document; his argument in a recent election case proved him a learned lawyer and skilled advocate; his criticism of the tyrannical methods and scandalous partisanship of the last Congress though entirely decorous was masterful."

"From his ability and amiability it is little wonder that he redeemed his district from the Republicans in 1888. His first term of untiring work makes it a less wonder that he maintained party unity and greatly increased his majority in 1890. Appreciating his fidelity and industry it is gratifying to learn that his people will again renominate him without opposition and elect him, without doubt."

HAPPILY WEDDED.

The Hunter-Morgan Nuptials Celebrated Last Evening.

Marriage of Mr. E. H. Nesbitt and Miss Ella Milton Cummings This Morning.

Mr. E. H. Nesbitt and Miss Ella Milton Cummings were happily wedded this morning at the First Baptist Church.

The ceremony was solemnized at 9 o'clock, by Rev. J. E. Wright, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, who used the simple but impressive nuptial service of the Methodist ritual.

The display usually witnessed at church weddings was omitted, there being no decorations at all. This was favorably commented upon and commended by those present.

Messrs. A. J. Gatewood and Oscar Brothers, of Owingsville, Mr. L. G. Strode of Lexington, and Mr. Oscar McDougle, of this city, acted as ushers, and Mrs. Thornley presided at the organ.

The fair young bride was very lovely in a traveling costume of tan crepon, with trimmings of Grecian bands, with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of the pretty La France roses.

The happy couple went East on their bridal trip, leaving on the C. & O.'s fast express shortly after the ceremony. They will spend a few days at White Sulphur Springs. The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Robert Cummings and is a granddaughter of the late James H. Hall. Since the death of her parents some years ago she has made her home with her uncle and guardian, Mr. Samuel M. Hall, of Forest avenue.

The groom is the youngest son of the late Judge Nesbitt, of Owingsville, and is junior member of the firm of Nesbitt & Co., dry goods merchants of this city. The BULLETIN echoes the wish of the many friends of the couple that their future may be as bright as the pleasant June morning on which they wedded.

THE HUNTER-MORGAN NUPTIALS.

The pleasant home of Mrs. Julia G. Morgan of West Second street presented a brilliant scene last evening. The lawn was ablaze with fancy colored lanterns, while within the soft light from chandelier and lamp fell upon a happy and joyous crowd. The parlors were prettily and tastefully decorated with vines and flowers and tropical plants.

The occasion was the marriage of her eldest daughter, the accomplished Miss Anna Clarkson Morgan, to Mr. James Montgomery Hunter, of Louisville.

At 8:30 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlors to the strains of the wedding march chanted by Mrs. Stanley Lee, accompanied by Rocco Ferro, the Cincinnati harpist. Several charming little flower girls led the way, followed by the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Carrie Wood, of Louisville. Then came the groom and his best man, Mr. Hamilton Hunter. Rev. B. W. Mebane, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, officiated, using the old Scotch Presbyterian nuptial ceremony.

About one hundred guests were present to witness the union.

The wedding supper was served by Martin Bros., the menu embracing all the delicacies of the season.

At midnight, the newly wedded took passage on the steamer Telegraph for the groom's home at Louisville.

The groom is special agent in Kentucky of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. He is a son of Mr. N. D. Hunter, who was at one time engaged in the hardware business in this city. His bride is the eldest daughter of the late Dr. H. C. Morgan.

Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. B. W. Wood and daughters, Misses Carrie and Lettie, of Louisville; Mrs. S. B. Richardson and Miss Anna Leathers, also of Louisville; Miss Sieberger, of Chicago, and Mrs. Runyon, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter have a wide circle of friends here and elsewhere who unite in wishing them a future of happiness and prosperity.

MISS LOTTIE TAYLOR, daughter of Rev. Dr. Taylor, formerly pastor of the M. E. Church, South, will be married to a Mr. Shackleford, of Alabama, early next fall.

MR. EDWARD MYALL, of California, who recently paid a visit to his relatives in this county and Bourbon, carried back with him to his western home an interesting photograph. It was a picture of the following group: Edward Myall, age 80, San Francisco, Cal.; Enos Myall, 70, Mayslick; Jonathan Myall, 65, Hutchinson's Station, Ky.; Jonas Myall, 62, Mayslick; George Myall, 60, Mayslick; Edward Myall, Jr., 58, Maysville, Ky.

MENTION is made elsewhere of the partnership formed by Drs. J. T. Strode and J. H. Samuel. The hospital life of Dr. Samuel certainly gave him an extensive field from which to obtain a varied experience in the treatment of cases both of a medical and surgical character. As physician in an asylum for the insane he had presented an unlimited opportunity to direct treatment to all forms of nervous diseases, and for several years having exclusive professional charge of the female patients, his opinion as to treatment of troubles of this nature is certainly entitled to the greatest consideration.

Dr. Strode is known to the people of Maysville and vicinity, having been one of the most successful practitioners of this city for years.

JOHN BULL AND HIS COLONIES.
Commercial Bodies of Great Britain Will Consider the Subject.

NEW YORK, June 15.—During the last four days of the present month there will assemble in London a group of representative men, whose deliberations will be watched with more than usual interest. It is the assemblage of the associated chambers of commerce of the British empire, which originated with the colonial exhibition ten years ago, and assembles every five years.

This one will be composed of perhaps the most marked representation ever brought together in London of business men from all quarters of the empire. The most intelligent and capable representatives of the various commercial bodies, not only of England and Scotland, but from India, Australia and Canada, will assemble, and it is believed that not less than 250 organizations will be represented.

The questions for discussion are numerous. The most important of them, however, is that which will begin the proceedings—"The relation of Great Britain to her colonies." An attempt will be made by the imperial federalists to promote their cause, which practically means the federation of all the colonies with the empire, a representation in parliament, a uniform tariff and a resulting discrimination against the United States in favor of the products of the colonies.

The recent speech of Lord Salisbury at Hastings has given great encouragement to the belief that something practical might result from what have hitherto been exceedingly vague and impractical suggestions of the imperial federalists. Of course the question of the relations between Canada and the United States will form a not unimportant consideration in this discussion, and indeed the whole question of how far the interests of the United States are likely to be affected, should the recommendations of this assemblage take definite form, is a matter of interest.

CONGRESS.
Nothing Done in Either the House or Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Immediately after the calling of the house to order yesterday, Mr. Tillman announced the death of Hon. E. T. Stackhouse, and after the adoption of the customary resolutions and the appointment of a committee to accompany his remains to his home, the house as a further mark of respect adjourned.

The senate remained in session only long enough to transact some routine business and then adjourned out of respect to the memory of Hon. E. T. Stackhouse. Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, who intended to address the senate on the silver question, postponed his remarks.

COLLISION OF TRAINS.
Four People Killed and a Number Injured in a Suburb of London.

LONDON, June 15.—A collision at Bishop's Gate yesterday resulted in the loss of four lives and the injury of many persons. Two trains ran for the purpose of carrying people who live in the suburbs to their work, and known as workingmen's trains, collided near the Bishop's Gate station. The trains were crowded with people, and as they crashed into each other there was a frightful outcry, indicating that a large number had been killed or maimed.

It was found that besides the four killed forty were injured in the collision, and it is thought that some of the latter may not survive. Much excitement prevailed at Bishop's Gate as other trains came in bearing thousands of passengers, all of whom were delayed until the wreck had been cleared. The police set at work at once to ascertain the responsibility for the disaster.

Youthful Train Wreckers.
HOUSTON, June 15.—Two boys named John Lohr and William Lay have been arrested near Westfield charged with attempting to wreck a freight train on the International and Great Northern road. They got possession of a jack-screw and placed it on the track just before the train was due, but the engineer discovered the obstruction in time to stop the train. The boys are aged respectively thirteen and fourteen years, and are in jail in default of $500 bail.

FREIGHT RUNS INTO A PASSENGER TRAIN.
BALTIMORE, June 15.—A wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Potomac railway last night at Halethorpe, about ten miles from this city. It was caused by a freight running into a passenger train. Two persons were badly cut up, but not seriously injured; others were slightly hurt. Several freight cars and a sleeper were wrecked. Travel was delayed some hours.

JUVENILE COUNTERFEITERS.
MUNCIE, Ind., June 15.—Last evening a lot of spurious five-cent coins were found in a barn on the Vorse farm, near Cowan, where the ten-dollar gold coin mold was discovered last week. The coins were badly made, and had evidently been turned out by amateurs, who threw them away. It is supposed that a gang of juvenile counterfeiters exist in that locality.

Four persons were killed and six hurt. The northbound passenger train, with over one hundred passengers, was only saved by being behind its schedule time. Among the killed are Frank Sargent, Fireman Henry Slater and Conductor Duckworth and Thomas Allen.

Race Relay Bicycle Riding.

THE MARKETS.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

The offerings at auction for the week just closed were 1,983 hds., classed as follows: 557 hds. Mason County (Ky.) District, 388 hds. Pendleton County (Ky.) District, 184 hds. Owen County (Ky.) District, 289 hds. Grass Valley District, 49 Brown County (Ky.) District and 22 hds. West Virginia, of which 1,722 hds. were new, against 1,861 hds. the previous week, of which 1,589 were new, and 2,554 hds. corresponding week last year, of which 1,560 hds. were new. Total offerings for the year to date 51,707 hds., of which 29,859 were new, against 54,401 hds. same time last year, of which 21,599 hds. were new.

Hdbs. Receipts for the week 1,903
Receipts same week last year 2,128

The offerings were larger than for some time past, but still are not heavy. Receipts were large, showing a marked increase over the previous week. The week's business was very satisfactory, a strong market prevailing for all grades, and receipts for good and fine leaf, for which active demand is shown, and prices paid are high.

Common and medium is active and taken at full prices. Common trashes and lugs are in active demand, buyers being in quest of these grades, and an advance in prices on this kind can be quoted. Nondescripts hold steady and sell well.

All color grades command close attention from buyers, prices ruling high, while red tobacco are not in as good demand and sales do not prove as satisfactory. The offering of old was small, and there is no change of note from previous reports, most of that on sale being in bad order, and nothing but sweet (which is a scarce article) is found full price around.

Of the 1,722 hds. (new) 16 sold from $1 to $3.65, 218 from $4 to $5.95, 717 from $6 to $7.95, 249 from $8 to $9.95, 297 from $10 to $14.75, 195 from $15 to $19.75, 29 from $20 to $22.75 and 2 at $26.25.

Of the 260 hds. (old) 11 sold from $1 to $3.95, 57 from $4 to $5.95, 146 from $6 to $7.95, 22 from $9 to $9.95, 22 from $10 to $13, 1 at $15.75, 1 at $22.75.
